

INCIDENTS MANAGEMENT

KEY RULES AND PROCEDURES OF THE CORE(BE) PAYMENT SYSTEM

- 2022 -

A. NATURE OF INCIDENTS

The incidents management includes two parts, depending on the nature of the incident:

- operational,
- financial.

In the first case, the incidents management process is based on an Operational crisis process involving the Participants.

In the second case, the incidents management process is based on a Financial crisis process.

B. INCIDENTS OF OPERATIONAL NATURE

STET first analyzes the Incident and then, if applicable, will confer with the Flow Manager Correspondent of the affected Direct Participant(s).

If non-serious incidents are not resolved within a maximum of four (4) hours, STET will determine whether the situation calls for the Operational Crisis Committee to be formed.

The purpose of the Operational Crisis Committee is to manage crises caused by technical or banking incidents in CORE or among Participants that affect CORE technical processing, exchange and clearing of Transactions, and/or comprising a systemic risk.

STET can form the Operational Crisis Committee at any time, as soon as a serious Incident occurs. Any Incident affecting settlement of transactions in a Clearing and settlement cycle is deemed a serious incident.

1. Operational Crisis Committee

The Operational Crisis Committee is formed under the following circumstances:

- Disagreement regarding an Account statement

The Operational Crisis Committee includes:

STET’s CEO is the head of the Operational Crisis Committee and may, if and when applicable, appoint an alternate.

Every DP and the National Bank of Belgium appoint a Crisis Correspondent in charge of:

- Representing its institution during the formulating of action plans, or deciding on any matter within the jurisdiction of the Operational Crisis Committee;

- Mobilizing the necessary resources of the institution;

c. Request to the Operational Crisis Unit

The Operational Crisis Committee can be formed:

- By STET,
- By a Direct Participant in the event the Participant’s action plan or the business continuity plan of one of the IPDTA it represents is activated,

d. Notification of the Operational Crisis Unit

Depending on the type and severity of the incident, the Operational Crisis Committee manager may decide to form a STET-only Operational Crisis Committee, or one open to Crisis Correspondents of affected Direct Participants.

Regardless of the way in which it was formed, the activation of the Operational Crisis Committee is reported to the Crisis Correspondent of every affected Direct Participant via information message.

This information message must be acknowledged by the Crisis Correspondent via email, or via fax coupled with a telephone call or text message.

Should the Crisis Correspondents of all or some of the Direct Participants need to be included in the Operational Crisis Committee they will be convoked via email, or via fax coupled with a telephone call or text message. They will be informed of:

- The type of incident, the severity of the situation, and the proposed means of resolving the problem;
- The place and time of the Operational Crisis Committee session or, in the event of a conference call, the session's telephone number.

e. Communication of the Operational Crisis Unit

The national bank of Belgium, as settlement agent, is systematically informed of any incident which impacts the settlement of the clearing balances, regardless the cycle.

For ease of identification, all messages related to the Operational Crisis Committee will begin with the following character sequence: "STET / Operational crisis committee -".

A message indicating what decisions have been made and what provisional measures could be undertaken will be issued to all Direct Participants within 2 hours after the end of each session.
